MCANJ Participates in the Construction Industry Career Day

On Tuesday, May 28 and Wednesday, May 29, 2019, MCANJ participated in the Construction Industry Career Day at the Raritan Center. Mechanical Contractors Association of New Jersey is a top-level sponsor for this event. The event focuses on career exploration that is vital for students and others looking to make informed decisions about their career and education options. The event provides all who attend with enough information regarding construction career options, educational requirements, stackable and transferable credentials, wage progressions and in some cases college credits. Over the course of both days there were hands-on demonstrations from New Jersey construction trades as well as display booths for colleges, trade associations, state and federal agencies.

MCANJ is proud to be involved with this event and the association is looking forward to next year's event.
